Critical Test Today for Moon Program

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

— America's man to the moon program faces a critical test today with a powerful Saturn 1 rocket scheduled to hurl an unmanned Apollo space ship three-quarters of the way around the world. The aim is to qualify it for a three-man earth orbit flight in December.

The Apollo ship, equipped with everything except the astronauts and their sleeping couches, was to ride into space at 12:30 p.m. under the massive thrust of the Saturn 1, the United States' most powerful rocket.

If all goes well on the 93-minute test and there are no other development problems, three astronauts will take a trip of up to 14 days in December to trigger an all-out drive to land men on the moon in 1968.

The Soviet Union launched an unmanned space laboratory weighing nearly two tons Wednesday on an undisclosed mission to the moon, prompting speculation it might photograph the moon's surface or perhaps land an animal on the moon. A Soviet satellite made a controlled "soft" landing on the moon in February, four months ahead of the United States.

The latest Soviet vehicle, Luna 11, weighs more than four times as much as the 850-pound American Lunar Orbiter, which is now taking pictures of potential astronaut landing sites on the moon.

The pilots for the first Apollo earth orbit journey will be Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward H. White II and

Lt. Col. Roger B. Chaffee.

The state denied that Jackson, who is serving a five-year term on a 1963 burglary conviction, was being forced to perform hard labor for which he was not physically able because of blindness and poor vision.

Some prisoners, the state said, purposely leave part of the farm produce that they should be picking as a form of rebellion.

All eight prisoners were given eight lashes with the strap, the state said, causing them no physical injury, and all were returned to their okra-picking jobs, "this time picking

Navy Lt. Roger B. Chaffee.

The 28-ton Apollo craft was to soar today to a peak altitude of 706 miles above Africa, then—with some tricky maneuvers by its guidance system and steering engine—was to skip back through the earth's atmosphere like a rock skimming across the water.

The 5-ton cabin section in which future astronauts will ride was to separate and parachute to a landing in the north-central Pacific 300 miles southeast of Guam after a 17,825-mile trip.

A recovery force headed by the aircraft carrier Hornet was stationed in the landing zone.

On its fiery plunge back through the atmosphere, the cabin section was to reach a speed of 19,450 miles an hour, during which temperatures up to 2,700 degrees Fahrenheit were to sear its protective heat shield.

"It is a tough mission," said Air Force Maj. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, Apollo program director for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's office of manned space flight.

He said the flight would provide information on operation of the guidance and navigation system, the propulsion system, the power-producing fuel cells, the communications, the astronauts' emergency escape system, the heat shield and other elements.

Phillips said that if everything went well, the next Saturn-Apollo shot would be manned.

"It probably will be early October before we decide if the next flight will be manned," he added.

Up to now NASA has been saying officially that the first manned Apollo flight is set for the first quarter of 1967. However, Phillips said it could be in December.

Whipping of Convicts Is Admitted

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An Arkansas convict's claim that his poor eyesight led to a prison whipping is only a frivolous excuse, the state attorney general's office said Wednesday in U.S. District Court.

William K. Jackson, 27, charged last Friday in a handwritten petition to the court that he was whipped with the penitentiary's controversial leather strap for overlooking okra in the field.

His poor eyesight caused him to miss some of the crop, the petition said.

The attorney general's office, answering for the prison, admitted that Jackson and seven other convicts were whipped July 27 for not picking okra, but Jackson was the only one who defended himself against the charge.

Jackson's medical records show that his vision is poor in his left eye, but the state conceded it is normal in the right eye. The records show that "defendant's defense was frivolous," the state said.

The state denied that Jackson, who is serving a five-year term on a 1963 burglary conviction, was being forced to perform hard labor for which he was not physically able because of blindness and poor vision.

Some prisoners, the state said, purposely leave part of the farm produce that they should be picking as a form of rebellion.

BILLIONS FOR THE CITIES was requested from the federal government by Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, right. Cavanagh, president of the National League of Cities and the U.S. Conference of Mayors, told a Senate subcommittee hearing on urban aid that $113 billion was necessary to finance the "rebirth of the American city" by 1976. At left is hearing chairman Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn.

all that was supposed to be picked."

Jackson's petition is the first test of prisons rules for whipping adopted earlier this year.

U.S. District Judge, ruling on another convict's petition, said that the whip constituted cruel and unusual punishment, unless the state Penitentiary Board established an explicit set of rules for its use.

Jackson, who is from Gresham, S.C., was convicted of burglarizing a general store near Gray.

The Washington Monument was dedicated on Feb. 21, 1885.

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force Lt. James Glasgow, 26, of Eureka Springs, Ark., recently chalked up two milestones in one day in the air over Viet Nam.

Glasgow, an F4C Phantom pilot, became the first man in the 559th Tactical Fighter Squadron to complete 250 combat missions and on the same day log his 1,000th hour of jet flying.

The lieutenant, a graduate of the University of Arkansas, has

NO EASY WAY OUT

Dear Helen: A boy asked me to go to a dance with him and I accepted. A few days later we had a fight. So I figured he wouldn't take me to the dance and accepted another boy's invitation.

I figured wrong.

The first boy called me up and apologized, so the date is still on. Who should I break the date with, the first or second boy? — Puzzled

Dear Puz: This is like getting your skin caught in a zipper: no matter which way you go, it's bound to hurt.

I know you must think I'm some kind of nut, and that most other boys like girls when they act like that — but don't laugh. Right now I'm very confused about girls. If most of them are so pushy and giggly, and chasing, I have a few doubts about the female sex.

Why do girls say they are going with someone and wear their ring, and then sit at the show and flirt around with other boys when their real boyfriends aren't there? And why do girls of about 14 and 15 act so downright sexy?

I know you must think I'm some kind of nut, and that most other boys like girls when they act like that — but don't laugh. Right now I'm very confused about girls. If most of them are so pushy and giggly, and chasing, I have a few doubts about the female sex.

In your age group, "Boys seldom like lasses who make the first passes." — H.

Dear Helen: I dropped out of school a year ago to marry a man I love very much. I'm now 16.

Everything is fine except that whenever I do anything wrong I get a paddling, and get sent to my room until my husband feels I have been properly punished.

Just the other night I answered him back. He marched me to the bedroom and tanned my bottom with a hairbrush. Then he gave me a long speech about how he's older than I and knows what is best for me.

I feel like a child, not a wife.

AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When a new comedy series called "Family Affair" replaces reruns of "Hazel" on CBS soon, it may seem awfully familiar.

Where have we seen before the swinging bachelor with his manservant who suddenly becomes a foster parent? Sure, "Bachelor Father."

The basic situation of "Family Affair" is the swinging bachelor and his manservant who acquire three wards. But where "Bachelor Father" had John Forsythe as the gay blade and Sammie Tong as his Chinese houseman, the new series has Brian Keith as the man-about-town and Sebastian Cabot as his gentleman.

But this surface resemblance may be misleading. After all, there are at best only a double handful of situations suitable for a series. Its real parent is "My Three Sons," the long-playing series on the same network.

In this one we had Fred MacMurray playing a widower with three sons, plus an elderly male relative helping out with the household and child-rearing chores — really not too different.

By an extraordinary coincidence, the producer of "My Three Sons" is also the creator and producer of "Family Affair." It is also being put together in a complicated jig-saw puzzle fashion that was invented by necessity for the parent series.

Producer Don Fedderson wanted MacMurray to play the widowed father. Since MacMurray, in great demand for films, didn't want to tie himself into a TV show, he agreed to shoot all the star's scenes for "My Three Sons" in a stated number of days, thus freeing him for other jobs.

This was great for MacMurray, but in getting the bugs out of the system it created unhappiness for the rest of the cast.

Now Keith is in the catbird seat, committed to only 75 work days on the new series. The rest of the cast will toll on, filling out the rest of the stories.

Cabot, a formidable scene stealer, is well remembered for his role as a professor of criminology in the "Checkmate" series.

"It took me more than three years to shake that British — or New England — professor image," he said.

Since then he has enjoyed himself playing guest star roles — "Just great, because you can get into a character, play it, and get on to something else."

Will "Family Affair" be a success? Nobody knows, of course, but both of its immediate ancestors did well. However, neither one of them ever had competing "Peyton Place" to contend with.

The puffer, sometimes called the balloonfish, can inflate its body many times by swallowing air or water. It does this when attacked. Its spine protrudes and forms a defensive armor. The jaws of the puffer look like a parrot's beak and are powerful enough to break off branches of coral. Some varieties of the puffer contain a deadly poison and are dangerous to eat.

WIN AT BRIDGE

He Tossed Away His Wealth

The late Hal Sims once told a budding bridge player that he played like a millionaire. The player was flattered, but he shouldn't have been. Sims meant that he indulged in too many luxuries at the table.

South won the club lead in dummy and made the millionaire's play of the ace of trumps. It is nice to pull trumps but sometimes it is a luxury that ordinary mortals can't afford.

He put in a lot of time studying the hand from then on but it was all to no avail. The combination of bad breaks in the black suits plus the ace of hearts in the West hand was too much for him.

If South had been provident he would have had little trouble making his contract. At trick two he would have led a low club from dummy and ruffed with his queen of trumps just in case there might be a 5-1 club split.

When West followed, South would play king and another

There is an interesting feature of today's bidding. It is North's immediate raise to three spades. Most players would prefer to rebid the six card club suit but North felt that it was more important to show spade support immediately.

It didn't make much difference this time. We expect that six spades would have been reached anyway but in general we do approve of that immediate raise in preference to the club rebid.

2 Americans Survive in Tennis Play

By HOLCOMB B. NOBLE BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Dennis Ralston and Clark Graebner of the United States have survived a tough early-round test in the National Doubles Tennis Tournament. But defending champions Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle of Australia have yet to lift a racket in anger in defense of their title.

Totally unaffected by the recent dip in his team's fortunes, however, is Frank Robinson who raised his league-leading homer total to 40 Wednesday with two shots in the losing effort.

That's one more than Frank's best previous output, attained in Cincinnati in 1962. For all his power, Robinson never led the National League in homers (or batting or runs batted in either) for that matter. But barring a Ruthian effort by Boog Powell, Harmon Killebrew, Joe Pepitone or one of that crowd, he's got the AL homer crown in the bag.

In other American League action, Detroit beat Chicago 6-2, California edged New York 2-1, Washington squeezed by Minnesota 6-5 in 11 innings and Kansas City took both games of a twi-night doubleheader 4-2 and 8-3.

In the National League, Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 6-4, San Francisco took Cincinnati 9-4, Chicago edged New York 6-5, Houston beat St. Louis 7-2 and Los Angeles nipped Atlanta 2-1 in 11 innings.

The nation's leading hope in recapturing its own doubles title then snapped back 6-4, 6-0, only to find themselves five times on the verge of losing the next set.

Ralston had two set points against him, Graebner three.

Robinson Could Win Triple Crown

By GORDON BEARD Associated Press Sports Writer BALTIMORE (AP) — Frank Robinson says he doesn't think too much about the prospect of winning the American League Triple Crown of batting, Oh, no.

"You have to be lucky to win the Triple Crown," the Baltimore Orioles' outfielder said Wednesday night. "I don't give that much thought."

Robinson had just driven in three runs with a pair of homers, as Baltimore lost 10-4 to Cleveland, further solidifying his chances of winning the Triple Crown during his first American League season.

The Twins and Senators took turns leading in their game and an 11th-inning error by Zello Versalles paved the way for the Washington triumph.

The Twins and Senators took turns leading in their game and an 11th-inning error by Zello Versalles paved the way for the Washington triumph.

Then, speaking of Detroit's Al Kaline, third with a .308 average, Robinson said, "He was 0-for-5 Tuesday."

Robinson said now that he has reached the 40-homer plateau for the first time — a total he didn't expect this season — he views 50 as a reasonable goal "considering the time remaining."

The 30-year-old slugger has racked up 17 homers and 37 RBI in his last 33 games, and the Orioles have 37 games left.

Homers No. 39 and 40, Robinson said, were a gift for daughter Michelle who was a year old on Wednesday.

Frank will celebrate his own birthday next Wednesday in Cleveland — playing a team against whom he has already slugged nine homers.

He'll have to do something special for son Frank Kevin, who'll be four on Sept. 8.

"We're off that day," Robinson said.

Orioles in Slump But No Danger

By RON RAPOORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles are in a bit of a slump but it'll take a Miracle of Michigan Avenue or a Legend of Lake Erie if Detroit or Cleveland are going to take advantage of it.

Both clubs picked up a game on the Birds Wednesday, the Indians with a 10-4 victory over them but with less than 40 games to go the Orioles could hardly be blamed for not taking t' defeat or their current three-game losing streak particularly seriously.

Baltimore remains 11½ games up on the second-place Tigers and a full 13 ahead of the Indians, who are in third. If the Indians win today the Baltimore losing string will equal its longest of the season. In all, the Orioles have lost four of their last five contests, all at the hands of Detroit and Cleveland.

Totally unaffected by the recent dip in his team's fortunes, however, is Frank Robinson who raised his league-leading homer total to 40 Wednesday with two shots in the losing effort.

That's one more than Frank's best previous output, attained in Cincinnati in 1962. In the National League, Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 6-4, San Francisco took Cincinnati 9-4, Chicago edged New York 6-5, Houston beat St. Louis 7-2 and Los Angeles nipped Atlanta 2-1 in 11 innings.

The big Cleveland bats were swung by Joe Azcue, who had three runs batted in, and Max Alvis and Rocky Colavito, with two apiece. Robinson's three RBI raised his total for the season to 95, just two behind the league leader, teammate Boog Powell.

Bill Freehan's first Homer in more than a month started a four-run second inning for the Tigers. Willie Horton also homered and Mickey Lolich, with a little help from Orlando Pena, won his 13th game of the season.

A sparkling pitching duel between Fred Talbot of the Yankees and Fred Newman of the Angels came to an abrupt end in the ninth inning when Ed Kirkpatrick sent a two-run Homer, the sixth hit off Talbot, into the stands. Joe Pepitone hit his 28th Homer in the bottom of the ninth, the sixth Yankee hit.

The Twins and Senators took turns leading in their game and an 11th-inning error by Zello Versalles paved the way for the Washington triumph.

During a post-game discussion, Robinson belied his professed unconcern about the Triple Crown. First, he noted that Oliva was blanked by the Washington Senators in a double-header Tuesday night "for the second time this year."

Then, speaking of Detroit's Al Kaline, third with a .308 average, Robinson said, "He was 0-for-5 Tuesday."

No Ruling in Harris Case Until October

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court indicated Wednesday that it will not rule on Frank Harris' latest attempt to stay out of the Arkansas electric chair until the court reconvenes in October.

Harris, 59, of Jonesboro, was convicted in the slaying of Mrs. Leonard Dever and four of her six children the night of Dec. 21, 1963, at the Dever farm near Prumann, Ark.

On two previous occasions, Harris has come within hours of being executed. The latest date was July 22, but Judge Pat Mehaffey of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals stayed the execution until Aug. 24 to give Harris' attorneys time for an appeal.

The federal appeals court at St. Louis rejected the appeal, but the stay of execution remained in effect in the absence of a fresh setting of the execution date by Gov. Orval Faubus.

Harris' attorneys sped from the federal appeals court to the U.S. Supreme Court, urging the nation's top court to review the case.

His appeals have been based on recent rulings of the Supreme Court outlining a suspect's right to counsel and procedures on obtaining confessions. Harris contends he was jailed for 20 days without being allowed to see an attorney and was mistreated by police trying to obtain information from him.

Q—What causes one to get zigzag silvery lines in front of one's eyes?

A—This describes the aura which precedes an attack of migraine. In the typical attack the aura lasts 40 or 50 minutes and is followed by a severe headache over one eye. The headache is often accompanied by vomiting. The attacks recur at irregular intervals.

An injection of ergotamine at the start of an attack should give relief. Persons who have these headaches frequently can prevent them by taking methysergide (Sansert) but this drug (available only on a doctor's prescription) will not relieve an attack that has already started. The drug should be taken only under medical supervision.

Q—I take Cafergot for migraine. Is it harmful? Do migraine attacks ever go away?

A—Cafergot is an ergotamine preparation. It should not be taken by anyone who has a disease of the heart, blood vessels or liver or who is pregnant. In most victims there is a gradual disappearance of the attacks when the half-century mark is passed.

Q—Are true migraine headaches common in young women? Are they just a nervous reaction or is there a definite underlying cause?

A—Migraine attacks are very common in young women. They usually start early in childhood but are not often recognized for what they are until late adolescence. The cause is a dilation of the blood vessels inside the skull which cause painful pressure on the nerves in that area. After much study medical scientists are still unable to say what triggers this process. Although nervous tension may aggravate these attacks they are not the primary cause.

Q—My doctor has me take daily injections of Gynergen for my headaches for over 12 years. Is there any kind of medicine I could take by mouth or, better yet, is there a permanent cure?

A—Gynergen is an ergotamine preparation that is effective in the treatment of migraine and other headaches due to circulatory disturbances in the skull. Methysergide by mouth may help you. Unless a removable cause for your headaches can be found the chance for a permanent cure are poor.

Fight Assured Over Calle-up Authority

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House squares off today for a fight over including in a defense appropriation bill authority for President Johnson to call up some Reserves for active duty. The President has not asked for such authority.

The provision was written into the $58 billion Senate version. It was not included in the defense money bill originally passed by the House.

Under present law, the President can call up Reserves only after declaring a state of national emergency — and then may call them to the colors only as units.

The Reserves provision added by the Senate is not mandatory for the President.

Spokesmen for National Guard and Reserve organizations opposed the proposal. They claimed it would wreck the Reserves.

The Reserves provision was listed as the first order of business for today's House session.

It was expected to be opposed by most Republicans and most members of the House Armed Services Committee which now is considering a separate bill dealing with Reserve forces.

Under the Senate provision, Reservists or National Guardsmen could be called to active duty up to 24 months, minus any time previously on active duty for training purposes.

Proponents of the Reserve provision have contended that many draft-age youths have signed up for Reserve and Guard duty to avoid induction for active military service.

They argued that the policy of allowing young men to fulfill their military obligation without the risk of going into combat was unfair to those who are drafted or who volunteer for active duty.

Highway Work Includes New River Bridge

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Highway Commission ordered Wednesday that work begin on design and construction of a new four-lane, $6.8 million bridge over the Arkansas River at Pine Bluff.

The U.S. 79 bridge's location has not been decided, Ward Goodman, chief highway engineer, said, adding that construction of the bridge does not mean there could not be another bridge over the Arkansas River at Lock and Dam No. 4, near Pine Bluff.

Japanese correspondents in the Communist Chinese capital reported they also put a bust of Mao Tse-tung in the school and plastered its walls with signs reading "Get out, foreign devils," and "Chase out the running dogs of imperialism."

The Sacred Heart Academy, almost 100 years old, has not been under the jurisdiction of the Chinese Communist government since 1949. Students continued to surge through the streets howling for reforms which ranged from renaming Peking "The East is Red" — Tung Fang Hung — to the abolition of Chinese checkers and Western chess.

South Africa Has a Fighting Fund

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — A top-secret "fighting fund" has been established by the South African government to ensure the country is never without at least 18 months' fuel supplies, Johannesburg's anti-government newspaper, the Rand Daily Mail, reported today.

The newspaper said money collected so far had topped the $14-million mark.

The paper's industrial correspondents reported the fund will be used to buy gasoline and crude oil supplies and to build a network of storage tanks.

Novel Breakfast Dish . . .Cereal Peach Crisp

It is estimated that over 60 per cent of the people eat better breakfasts now, compared to less than 50 per cent in the Fifties. However, the modern breakfast is keyed to the changing tempo of American life. No longer are huge breakfasts needed so generally, due to our more sedentary life.

Today, a basic cereal and milk breakfast is the modern light breakfast because it gives you one-quarter of your daily needs and is low in fat and cholesterol.

For those who prefer variety, look to some of the different ways to vary the fruit, cereal and milk team. Such a breakfast is this Cereal Peach Breakfast Crisp developed for Better Breakfast Month celebrations. It is a novel presentation of an adequate breakfast.

Cereal Peach Breakfast Crisp

1 can (1 pound 13 ounce) sliced peaches	1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed	2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 tablespoon cornstarch	3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt	3 cups corn flakes, crushed to 2 cups flakes

Drain peaches. Save 1 cup syrup and combine with 2 tablespoons brown sugar, cornstarch, salt, and nutmeg. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Add peach slices and lemon juice. Place in shallow 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Melt butter or margarine, add remaining sugar. Add cereal and stir until coated with sugar mixture. Sprinkle cereal over peaches. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) until heated, about 20 minutes. Serve warm, plain or with milk or cream.

Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

This Bat-yard Party Is Easy

NEW YORK — (NEA)—A giant party for the neighborhood small fry is simple for a television-aware mother to plan these days.

Paper products manufacturers, for example, have completed table settings that carry through the theme of Batman or Superman—revivals that parents who cut their teeth on Sinatra, the Lone Ranger and the Green Hornet cuddle up to.

A whammy paper party then is in order. For those who want to help with table settings it is simple to buy a complete layout, say in the Batman genre. This includes a table cover, plates, cups and napkins in blue, red, green and yellow.

To get small fry guests off the ground at their party, have them come in costume. Gotham City, U. S. A., will never be the same. Before they tie into refreshments, pass around paper and pencil and have each one who can write make up a special story with his favorite character—The Riddler, Cat Woman, The Joker or False Face—for a small playlet.

Although paper cups may seem the solution to the youthful drinking problem, 22-ounce glasses are in tempo with the supersoda drinkers. Also good for a giant party for the small folk are heroes (also called submarines or grinders) which make great eating when filled with sloppy joes topped with cheese. Don't forget the relishes, pickles, chips, cakes and possibly five-inch lollipops that even Batdad may savor if he can get it away from his Robin-eyed son.

Neighborhood children's parties are fun and become more simple as decorations take less time. Now is a good time to gather the children together for a casual party with a cohesive theme. School doors will be opening soon and a giant party for the small ones helps bridge the gap of weeks apart.

IT'S EASY to plan a party when the tablesetting is co-ordinated to a theme such as Batman. Ideal for the six-to-10 set, it also can be expanded for more formal eating (inset). These go with huge heroes filled with any Bat-coneation Batman and her friends want to provide.

Lemon Slices Add Tart Note To Veal Chops

Lemon slices tucked between veal chops add a tart, tangy quark note to this delicate meat. At the same time, they do a "built-in" garnish.

This recipe, cutting too few veal chops is ideal for that small intimate luncheon you may be having for the family or anyone you care for a special treat returning from a vacation.

Four chops will weigh one pound and one-half pounds. Those who may be either lean or not so lean, may need extra chops.

Braised Veal Chops with Lemon

Joan Crosby's TV NotebookBy JOAN CROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) —
This story is about Ken Berry.
Even if the name doesn't mean anything to you, please keep reading, because Ken is a very funny man.Actually, he is a television series star (he is quite brilliant in his portrayal of Capt. Parmenter in ABC-TV's F-Troop), but he insists that no one knows who he is, and his arguments are very convincing.For instance, once he was making a personal appearance in Mineral Wells, Tex., dressed in the Civil War uniform he wears on the show.

"I was walking around the lobby of the hotel dressed like this, and no one even noticed me. It was just as if all fellows in Civil War uniforms kept walking in off the desert every day. 'Oh, another of our boys has made it home!'

"If I try to impress a roomful of guests by calling my answering service to see if there are any messages, they never understand my name. They think I am saying Kim Barry, and I have to repeat my name over and over."

"Once I called Ken on the set," his pretty wife, Jackie, said, "and the man who answered the telephone repeated Ken-Day. What does he do here? But actually, because Kenny never remembers anyone, he assumes no one ever remembers him."

Ken and Jackie (she acts under the name of Jackie Joseph) were having dinner in a Hollywood restaurant where he ordered tournedos of beef because "I once had to order them in a show, and I didn't know what they were."

They are both graduates of the very successful Billy Barnes Revue. They have been married six years and are the parents of two adopted children, John Kenneth, 2, and Jennifer Kate, 1. Even Ken's son is a bit hazy about his father.

"He sees the Civil War uniform and thinks I'm on Broadway, too."

Berry is a slight, good-looking man with a distinctively turned-up nose. He is so soft-spoken, unobtrusive and mild-mannered you wonder if he ever gets angry.

"Oh, yeah," he answered, with the ferocity of a happy kitten, and a smile of pleasure at the havoc he can wreck.

"Ken gets angry at inanimate objects," Jackie said. "He's awful in traffic."

"And Jackie worries so when I get angry."

"Well, dear, there's always a chance I am somehow involved."

Automobiles are a consuming passion with Ken. "He starts his nonworking days," Jackie said, "by having a cup of coffee and reading the car ads in the newspaper."

Ken is very happy as a series star. "This is what I have always wanted to do. It's a daytime job. I like getting up when everyone else does and going home when everyone else does."

Use Round Steak To Wrap Carrots For Braised Dish

It takes the average factory worker 24 1/4 minutes to earn enough to buy a pound of round steak. In 1958, it took him 30 minutes; in 1951, 41 minutes.

This is one of the reasons beef round steak is popular; it won't wreck the budget. When cut into pieces, pounded to increase tenderness, explains Reba Staggs, meat authority, it can be wrapped around carrots for cooking, browned in a small amount of lard or drippings, covered and cooked slowly with moisture. That's called braising.

Skillet Steak Dinner
 1 beef round steak, cut 1/4-inch thick
 1/4 cup flour
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 3 small carrots, cut lengthwise into fourths
 1/4 cup lard or drippings
 4 potatoes, peeled
 4 small onions
 1/2 cup water
 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed mushroom soup

Cut steak into pieces about 3 x 5 inches. Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat with seasoned flour. Place 3 or 4 carrot sticks on each piece of steak. Wrap steak around carrots and fasten with a wooden pick. Brown rolls slowly in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add potatoes and onions to steak. Mix water with mushroom soup and pour over all. Cover tightly and cook slowly in a slow oven (325° F.) or on top of range 1 1/2 to 2 hours or until meat is tender and vegetables are done. 4 servings.

JUST BICYCLED HOME FROM SCHOOL
 BELEN, N.M. (AP) — Jim DeVocht, 18, finished his freshman year at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, and bicycled home — 600 miles. He averaged about 100 miles a day.

Most nights he slept at homes of friends along the way. He had problems with mountain climbing and pavement so hot that his tires stuck to it. He also had a screw that repeatedly came loose which he tightened with a dime because his screwdriver was too big.

DeVocht carried a spare tire, pump, tube repair kit, screwdriver, wrenches and a sleeping bag — weight about 30 pounds. He spent about $40.

He said, "I'm glad I did it, but I will never try it again."

Nectarines for Main Course or Dessert

GOOD SUPPER — Skillet-cooked pork chops with savory flavor plus refreshing fresh nectarines served in generous slices.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

THAT LOVELY fruit, the fresh nectarine, is one of summer's best offerings.

We probably do not need to remind you how attractive and delicious nectarines are in a fruit bowl. The bowl may be used as a centerpiece for your dining table and then be passed for the dessert course.

Or if you want to offer a "made" dessert, you might add nectarines to Ambrosia — that old-fashioned combination of sliced oranges and grated coconut.

Nectarines also do splendid service with meat and fish. We particularly like them served with curry — whether it is made with chicken, beef or shrimp. For this course, just pit and slice the nectarines and arrange them in an attractive bowl on a tray with other condiments — salted peanuts (whole or ground), crumbled crisply cooked bacon, French-fried onion rings.

Teamed with skillet-cooked pork chops, as in the following recipe, you'll find nectarines add refreshing flavor.

PORK CHOPS WITH NECTARINES

5 loin or rib pork chops about 1-inch thick

1 teaspoon salt

2 tablespoons butter or margarine

1/3 cup chili sauce

2 tablespoons wine vinegar

1/2 cup finely grated onion, pulp and juice

1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

1-2 teaspoons dry rosemary leaves

Generous dash of cayenne pepper

3 cups quartered fresh nectarines (3 to 5)

1 teaspoon cornstarch

1/2 cup water

Parsley sprigs, if on hand

Where necessary, cut away most of fat from around chops.

Sprinkle chops with 1/2 teaspoon of the salt.

In a large skillet, melt the butter; add chops and brown on both sides.

In a small bowl, stir together the remaining 1/2 teaspoon of salt, chili sauce, wine vinegar, grated onion, Worcestershire sauce, rosemary and cayenne; pour over browned chops in skillet. Cover and simmer until chops are tender — 45 to 50 minutes. Remove chops to a heated serving dish; keep warm. Skim excess fat from mixture in skillet.

Gradually stir cold water into cornstarch, keeping smooth. Add to mixture in skillet. Cook and stir constantly until clear, thickened and boiling. Mix in quartered nectarines; heat for about 5 minutes. Spoon nectarines and sauce over chops. Garnish with parsley. Makes 5 servings. Good served with mashed potatoes and green beans topped with onion rings.

We thought we could not get used to the sleeveless shift but we did. This season we have to adjust ourselves to a more fitted silhouette, plus sleeves. Sleeves are in for fall, as are rolled collars and buttons—big, little, plain and jeweled.

You can use five, nine—even as many as 11 buttons for the front. You can even make a false fold and close the front using a zipper at the back.

As most Hollywood musicals are taken from another medium, song writers rarely have the opportunity to write an original musical for the screen.

Our own "Mary Poppins" was the first original screen musical in six and a half years. In 1963, when Walt Disney saw the completed print of "Mary Poppins," he asked us to see if there were musical possibilities in "The Happiest Millionaire," which writer A. J. Carothers was then preparing as a straight comedy.

During the next four months, we sketched out 60 per cent of the musical numbers in the picture. We presented them to Walt, who approved the preliminary work. Then we set the project aside until he was ready to proceed with the production. In the year that followed, we wrote songs for nine other films.

One reason why we enjoy writing for films is that we can fit the musical score to the stars who will appear in the picture.

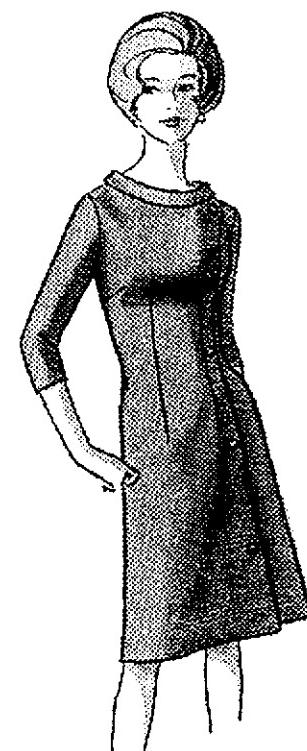

With the beginning of production, our creative work is done and the song writers then act as consultants to the musical conductor and the director.

By JACK ELLIOTT

Musical Conductor and Arranger

There are really three stages to the preparation of music for a motion picture. The first is the song writing. The musical conductor then prescribes or prerecords the songs, reprises and dance numbers.

These must be completed before filming.

starts, as it would be impossible actually to have an orchestra on the soundstage. During the shooting, the actors synchronize their lips and voices to a playback of the prerecorded music, so that the tempo and mood of the number will remain constant, no matter how many takes are required.

During the original recording, each voice is isolated on a separate channel, so that editors and sound mixers can control them individually.

Usually the vocalist comes into an empty studio and records his voice, while listening to a playback of the orchestra track through headphones. This places additional stress upon the artist in his attempt to achieve his best performance, but it is necessary for technical reasons.

Perhaps the most challenging stage of work for the arranger comes after the motion picture has completed production. It is then his task to weave the musical numbers into an underscore for the dialogue sequences.

Each tune becomes identified with a specific star or personality and can be used in the underscoring to indicate the presence or thought of a personality, even if he isn't actually on the screen.

The final underscoring of the picture is done on a soundstage, with the film being projected at the same time. Thus, the conductor can see and hear that the music fits the mood and timing of the picture as it is being recorded.

All in all, there is more attention paid to vocals in a motion picture than in any other medium. Because they are an integral part of the story, they must be precise, perfectly in keeping with the mood of the scene and dialogue, and timed so that they will feel right to the performer when he re-enacts them before the camera. That's one of the things that makes our work so challenging and exciting.

scent. What may smell good on your friend may not be as pleasant on you.

- If, after testing it on your wrist, you don't like a scent the saleslady may suggest, tell her so. Don't just take the first perfume she tries on you.

- If you are going to wear perfume, apply the fragrance like an expert. The important place for application is on the pulse spots.

- Don't drench yourself in the beautiful-smelling stuff once you start wearing it. On the other hand, don't think a little dash behind the ears is enough. Wear it so it will form a kind of aura about you.

- Never make the mistake of putting perfume on your clothes. This can spot the fabric.

- With the help of an atomizer held at arm's length from the body, spray yourself and the fine mist will cling mysteriously.

- Remember to spray perfume on your skin before you put on pearls or jewelry. The perfume can discolor pearls and some metals.
